SEASONSCAPES

A photograph of three large indoor plants in concrete planters, arranged in a row in a modern office setting. The plants are lush green and have long, narrow leaves. The planters are light-colored and rectangular. In the background, there are several modern office chairs and tables, suggesting a professional environment.

INTERIORSCAPES

Our roots and core business revolve around plants. We purposefully design, install and provide ongoing maintenance of landscapes in the built environment.

A modern office interior with large windows, potted plants, and a view of a city street. The scene is rendered in a sketch-like style with light blue and green tones. The office has a clean, minimalist aesthetic with a light-colored tiled floor and a yellow carpet runner. Several potted plants are placed throughout the space, including a large snake plant in a grey pot in the foreground and a tall, dark, tapered planter with a snake plant on the right. In the background, there are tables and chairs, suggesting a meeting or lounge area. The large windows offer a view of a city street with cars and buildings.

“We provide a visual experience that’s mutually beneficial for your guests and stakeholders.”
